The High School Is More Than A Building

(A TOWNSMAN Newsfeature)

What's going on at the high school?

Or, stated another way, what has the badly needed new high school building given Andover besides another badly needed school building?

A couple of clues were dropped last week. High school administrators reporting to the school committee mentioned that the high school this year is offering 127 courses, and that class size, ranging from eight to 28 pupils averages out at 17.4. This hits the school committee pupil-teacher ratio goal just about on the button. Following these clues takes the curious citizen to Shawsheen Road, into the new concrete-and-brick high school, up the steps that overlook the cafetorium, and past the high-ceilinged library, following the "main office" arrows.

Here the "Subject Offerings and Requirements" bulletin reveals a high school course offering as spacious as the hallways, with four overlapping curricula to choose from.

Calculus has been added to the math program this year, and the science department has ambiguous

A President By Computer This Year

Andover, for the first time in its history, will make its selection of a President by electronics Tuesday, when 11,640 registered voters can go to the polls, punch cards, then await the results.

Computer voting, being introduced here for the first time, will permit the voter to enter the polling booth, take a stylus, punch a card indicating candidate preference, then deposit it in the ballot box in an envelope.

The cards at the completion of the 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. polling time, will then be viewed by the automated machinery at Andover Business Institute and the results recorded.

Adequate machinery will be available at the polls, according to Town Clerk Irving O. Piper. The larger precincts will have in excess of 20 voting machines, which will provide those casting ballots with more spaces than previously available.

The town clerk has requested that wherever possible, voters go to the polls during the early hours, thus preventing the backup in the late evening hours.

He also requested residents to familiarize themselves with the questions on the ballot, through the informational brochure for— (Continued on Page Three)

ANDOVER REDISTRICTED. Andover will now be represented in the state legislature by three different representative districts. Shown on the map are the areas to be represented following Tuesday's vote. Precincts one, five and six, will be coupled with North Andover and be represented by either Rep. Paul W. Cronin of Andover, or Rep. James P. Hurrell of North Andover. Precincts two and four will be represented by either Warren Lafferty of Andover or Lawrence P. Smith of Lawrence. Precinct three will have representation from either Philip Palombi, or Reps. John C. Bresnahan and Gerard A. Guilmette. The geographic distribution of Andover's representative districts is shown in the above photo.

Congress Was Conservation Minded

As the 90th Congress adjourned it left a record of some excellent accomplishments and some notable unfinished business in the area of conservation.

It left the next congress and the next president with some critical decisions to make on the triple problems of conservation of air, water and land. As the nation nears an ecological crisis, voters who care about America's future environment will have to consider carefully which candidates will make the wisest decisions on water and air pollution, aircraft noise, unrestrained highway development, pesticides, and the protection of open spaces, estuaries, and wild lands.

Americans can look with pride towards the accomplishments of the 90th Congress in preserving a variety of wild and scenic areas for the enjoyment of future generations.

A Redwood National Park of 58,000 acres became a reality, climaxing a long battle to save these giants of nature.

The North Cascades National Park of over 500,000 acres was established, protecting "America's Alps."

Eight rivers were designated as initial parts of a National Wild and Scenic Rivers system, and another 27 rivers (including the Penobscot in Maine) were marked for study for potential addition to the system.

The Appalachian Trail and the Pacific Crest Trail were designated to start a new National Trails System. Among other trails to be studied for possible inclusion are the Long Trail (225 miles from the Massachusetts border to Canada) and the North Country Trail, heading west from Vermont to the Lewis and Clark Trail.

Establishment of Biscayne Bay National Monument in Florida.

Establishment of Great Swamp National Wildlife Refuge Wilderness Area in New Jersey.

On the debit side, a new highway bill was passed which weakened protection for parks and conservation land in the path of highways. Among unpassed bills was an important measure which would have protected the alligator, the leopard, and other species at home and abroad which are in danger of extinction. A Water Quality Improvement Act which would have strengthened anti-pollution forces died in the rush for adjournment.

The next congress will have to take up the fight for wise use of our natural resources, and it is important to elect officials, both nationally and locally, who realize the extent of the danger we face if these problems are not solved.

Money doesn't talk these days - it goes without saying.

warded from the secretary of state office. This will eliminate time-consuming reading of the referendum by the voter once inside the polling booth.

Topping the ballot this year, of course, is the choice for President of the United States. The major candidates include the teams of Humphrey and Muskie on the Democrat side, Nixon and Agnew on the Republican and Wallace and Griffin on the so-called third party independent ticket.

While there are a number of contests and questions on the ballot, the one which might prove most confusing to Andover voters is the race for state representative.

This year, the town is divided into three separate districts.

The major race focuses on the 13th Essex District, which pits Precincts one, five and six in Andover with all of North Andover.

Rep. Paul W. Cronin, 8 Puncard Ave., will face Rep. James P. Hurrell of North Andover. Both are completing their freshman year in the legislature.

Precincts two and four in Andover are coupled with a ward in Lawrence and finds Warren C. Laferty, 9 Pleasant St., Republican, battling the veteran Lawrence P. Smith, Democrat of Lawrence.

In the third section of the town, John C. Bresnahan and Gerard A. Guilmette of Lawrence, Democrat incumbents, are challenged by Republican Philip J. Palombi, also of Lawrence. This district includes Lawrence wards and Precinct three of Andover.

Congressman F. Bradford Morse is seeking re-election to a fifth term and is being challenged by Lowell Mayor Robert C. Macquire, a Democrat.

Executive Councillor Thomas J. Lane of Lawrence, is seeking re-election against Louis H. Johnson of Groveland, a Republican.

Democrat State Senator James P. Rurak of Haverhill is again seeking to represent Andover in the Fourth Essex District and is being challenged by Albert F. MacLeod, Jr., a Republican, also of Haverhill.

On the county level, there are contests for county commissioner and sheriff. The North Essex District Registry of Deeds post is uncontested with former Mayor John J. Buckley of Lawrence seeking a full term following appointment to the post after the death of G. Hudson Driver.

In the race for county commissioner, C.F. Nelson Pratt of Saugus a veteran of many years in the office and a Republican is joined by Daniel J. Burke of Lynnfield, a Democrat in seeking re-election.

Competing against them are William J. Donovan, a Democrat of Lawrence and George F. Patten of Peabody, Republican.

Sheriff Roger E. Wells is being challenged by William J. Casey of Lawrence.

There are six questions on the ballot to be acted upon by the voters, three dealing with amendments to the state constitution.

Question one would allow the governor ten days rather than the present five to act upon measures passed by the legislature. Question two deals with adoption of a graduated income tax, as approved by the legislature in the most recent session. Question three provides for the filling of the governor's chair in case of vacancy or a declaration of disability of the chief executive.

Question four provides for the calling of a constitutional convention to examine the present constitution and propose amendments or revise it where found necessary.

Question five deals with the issuance of liquor licenses and is in four parts. This is provided for every four years during the national election and provides for local control of the awarding of licenses.

The sixth question on the ballot, and one which is becoming increasingly controversial, deals with the retention of capital punishment for crime.

This particular question is not binding on the legislature and is more or less, an opinion poll of the thinking of the citizenry with regard to the death penalty.

Precinct four will be the largest precinct with eligible voters for this election, just edging Precinct six, Precinct four with 2,581 voters will cast ballots at the Grange building on Shawshen Road. Precinct six, with 2,578 to action by the Governor upon such measures.

QUESTION NO. 2
PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO
THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held August 30, 1966, received 188 votes in the affirmative and 46 in the negative, and in a joint session of the two branches held May 10, 1967, received 174 votes in the affirmative and 78 in the negative?

YES ☐
NO ☐

SUMMARY

The proposed amendment of the Constitution authorizes the Legislature to impose an income tax graduated according to total income, and authorizes the granting of reasonable exemptions, deductions and abatements, as an alternative to the exercise of the Legislature's existing power to tax income under Article 44, of the Amendments to the Constitution. Without limiting the foregoing authorization, the proposed amendment permits any such tax to be imposed at a uniform percentage of an individual's federal income tax liability or at graduated rates applied to his total income taxable federally, and it permits reasonable variations of any federal provision. It requires that the graduated rates, exemptions, and deductions be set without regard to the kind of income being taxed.

QUESTION NO. 3
PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO
THE CONSTITUTION

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in a joint session of the two branches held July 20, 1966, received 225 votes in the affirmative and 1 in the negative,
and in a joint session of the two branches held June 15, 1967, received 210 votes in the affirmative and 2 in the negative?

YES ☐
NO ☐

SUMMARY

The proposed amendment of the Constitution defines the circumstances in which a Governor's inability to perform his functions shall cause his office to become vacant, and it establishes a procedure for making the necessary determinations. The office will become vacant following a declaration of disability by the Governor himself or by the Chief Justice and a majority of the Associate Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, or such other body as the Legislature may provide. The vacancy will terminate four days after the Governor declares that no disability exists, unless (1) within that period the Chief Justice and majority of the Associate Justices, or such other body provided by the Legislature, should make a contrary declaration and (2) within another stated period the Legislature, by two-thirds of each branch present and voting, then determines the issue contrary to the Governor's declaration.

The same procedure will also apply to a Lieutenant Governor who in the case of a vacancy is performing the Governor's duties.

The proposed amendment also requires the election of a Governor for the unexpired balance of the four-year term if a vacancy in the office of Governor as described in the proposed amendment continues for a six-month period expiring more than five months prior to a biennial state election other than an election for Governor.

QUESTION 4.

LAW PROPOSED BY INITIATIVE
PETITION

Do you approve of a law summarized below, upon which the House of Representatives did not vote and upon which the Senate did not vote?

YES ☐
NO ☐

SUMMARY

The proposed law provides that the official ballot in the biennial State election for the year 1970 shall contain a question asking the voters whether there shall be a convention in 1971 to (1) revise, alter or amend the constitution of the Commonwealth on the following subjects, insofar as they relate to the structure of government, and no others: the Executive Branch;
the General Court; the Executive Council; the government of cities, towns and counties and their relationship to each other and to the government of the Commonwealth; (2) simplify and rearrange the constitution, and (3) provide methods of amendment thereof. The question will state that the convention shall not consider or propose any measure which relates to the Massachusetts Declaration of Rights, the provisions of the Massachusetts constitution concerning the "Judiciary Power" (other than provisions respecting the Executive Council), or any of the excluded matters enumerated in Article XLVIII, II, Section 2 of the Massachusetts constitution.
The question will fix the number of delegates to the convention at 150, of whom 20 members shall be members of the General Court; the remaining 130 members shall be elected by the voters in the manner summarized below. The question will also state the convention shall conclude its business not later than 120 days from its first session.

The proposed law provides that if a majority of the votes on the foregoing question is in the affirmative, the convention shall be held in July, 1971 to revise, alter or amend the constitution on the matters enumerated above only.
The House of Representatives and the Senate shall each elect as delegates 10 of its members, not more than 6 from each branch coming from the same political party. Of the remaining 130 delegates, 10 shall be elected at large and 120 shall be elected from the 40 senatorial districts, 3 from each. Provision is made for the manner of nominating and electing these 130 delegates, without party or political designation, for filling vacancies occurring in the position of any delegate, from whatever source chosen, and for the conduct of the convention's business.

Any revisions, alterations and amendments of the Massachusetts constitution adopted by the convention shall be submitted to the people at the State election in 1972 for their ratification and adoption in such manner as the convention may direct. If a majority of the people voting thereon ratify and adopt such revision, alteration or amendment, the constitution shall be deemed to be changed accordingly.

The proposed law also provides that if the vote on the question to be submitted at the biennial State election in 1970 is in the affirmative, the Governor shall appoint a preparatory commission of 5 members to compile data to aid the convention in the discharge of its duties. Each member of the commission shall receive compensation of $10,000 and the commission may expend a sum not in excess of $200,000, as the Governor may approve, for its expenses.

Whooping Cough---

Whooping cough is an acute infectious communicable disease which involves the respiratory tract.

The characteristic cough accompanied by a whooping sound is almost diagnostic.

The American Medical Association's fact sheet on whooping cough reports that the disease was known as early as 1578 and occurred in epidemic form in England in the 17th century.

The organism responsible is a rod-shaped bacterium known as Haemophilus pertussis which is found in the discharge coughed from the respiratory passages by a victim of the disease. The organism does not survive for any length of time outside the body and is quickly destroyed by drying and exposure to heat and sunlight.

The disease may occur at any season but is most common in late winter, spring and summer. Most cases appear at ages under five years. One attack usually produces immunity. Vaccination against whooping cough is effective. Many school districts require vaccination against whooping cough and several other childhood diseases before children may enroll in school.

Symptoms include inflammation of the respiratory tract and much secretion of mucus, which becomes quite thick and sticky as the disease progresses. Coughing may be prolonged and violent and accompanied by a whooping sound.

Sometimes the child may vomit
after a coughing spell.

Convalescence usually begins after four weeks. Very young children are most seriously affected.

Medical care, isolation and good nursing care are essential.

Women's Union Meets Wednesday

The November meeting of the Women's Union of the Free Christian church will be on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 7:45 p.m. at the church.

A.J. Anderson, director of Memorial Hall Library, will speak on "Problems in Book Selection."

According to Mr. Anderson, librarians generally find it increasingly difficult to gauge the need of a community and to provide material that will satisfy as many people as possible. In many cases they find themselves outraged by some of the material they have to select from and yet they feel an obligation to defend people's right to read.

Refreshments will be served with Mrs. Don Williams and Mrs. John Mooney the hostesses. All the women in the church are cordially invited to attend.

More men are taking it easy after age 65 today than 20 years ago. At that time, one out of two men in that age group was either working or looking for work, whereas today it's only one out of four. On the contrary, women are more inclined to remain in the labor force today than formerly. One out of ten women is either working or looking for work today as compared to one out of twelve, 20 years ago, reports the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Make one for yourself to find out how easy it is, and then stitch up several for Christmas gifts or bazaar items.

All it takes is a yard-length of any bright, colorful cotton fabric; some cotton cording for a drawstring; and bits of fringe, fabric scraps, and buttons for trimming.

Cut a 15x36 rectangle for the bag. Fold fabric in half, right sides together, and seam on each side. To give the bag a squared-off base, make an inverted tuck at the bottom. Do this by turning the bag inside out, folding the bottom up one inch, and stitching in place.

Make a casing for the drawstring by turning the open end of the bag under about two inches and hemming. Then make another row of stitching an inch higher to slip the cord through.

Choose washable cotton trims so the bag can be popped into the washer with other household cottons to keep it looking fresh and bright.

Concert Scheduled At College

India's great sitarist, Nikhil Banerjee, and his tabla player, Kanai Dutta, will perform on Saturday, Nov. 2 at 8:30 p.m. in the church auditorium at Merrimack College.

Nikhil Banerjee has come to the United States for the past two years as part of the American Society for Eastern Arts' program to encourage the study and appreciation of the Asian performing arts. He has taught at the Society's Summer School in the San Francisco Bay Area for two summers and is now appearing on his second national concert tour.

Born in Calcutta in 1931, Nik-hil Banerjee received his first music lessons from his father, Jithendranath Banerjee, a well-known sitarist. At the early age of nine, Nikhil was given the highest honor at the All Bengal Sitar Competition.

Only two years later, in 1942, he became the youngest musician employed by All India Radio and played for them for the next five years while continuing his studies. In 1947 he was introduced to Ustad Allaaddin Khan, the most renowned musician of North India. Banerjee was accepted as a disciple, and for the next seven years he gave up his concert career to study in Maihar with Allaaddin Khan and his son, Ali Akbar Khan.

Nikhil Banerjee's first appearance after this retreat, at the Tansen Music Conference in Calcutta in December, 1954, was enthusiastically received. Tours of China, Nepal, Afghanistan, Russia and Eastern Europe followed in 1955. In India, his performances are especially known for the purity of his classical style and the intense vitality of his improvisations. Banerjee is also in demand at concerts and festivals for duet-sitar and sarod-recitals with Ustad Ali Akbar Khan.

They're harder to take than ever.

Once you couldn't give away a Volkswagen.

But times have changed. Now people actually steal them.

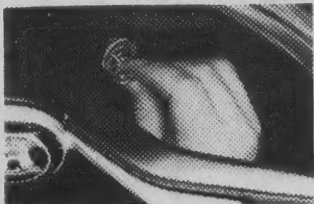

To help stop this, we're putting a new ignition/steering wheel lock in every 1969 VW.

When you shut off the ignition and remove the key, it locks the front wheels in position.

So if someone ever breaks in and jumps the wires, he'll probably wind up just going in circles.

He may even end up going straight. Of course, this isn't our only improvement for '69. There are 28 others.

Including an optional fully-automatic transmission for the Fastback and Squareback.

(The bug and Ghia have our optional automatic stick shift. Which we introduced earlier this year.)

Whichever VW suits you best, the best way to see all its changes is with a test drive.

Because, as usual, most of our improvements aren't on the outside where you can look at them.

They're deep down inside.

Where they make new VWs run better.

And where they don't make old VWs look obsolete.

Let The Animals Alone

One of my more foolish acts consisted of taking a naked baby cottontail rabbit from its nest and attempting to rear it.

At the time, it seemed an excellent project. I wanted to teach my then-small daughter about mammals. The experiment lasted a week. The rabbit almost grew fur. Then it began wheezing and died from what obviously was pneumonia. It was not the lesson that I had in mind, but it taught me.

The point is that humans do not make good foster parents for any young mammal other than the human baby. The more honest among us even question our skill in that area.

State fish and game departments and conservation organizations at this season when young wild mammals are common urge people not to pick up "orphan" animals. Usually the little animals are not orphans. The mother checked them in what she considered a safe spot and plans to return to them.

Charles E. Roth of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, who has had much experience with mammals in Connecticut and Maine also, says that young mammals reared in a human home lose their natural wariness toward humans, dogs and cats - among other things. When they are released as adults, he says, "one of several things can be expected:

"They will be killed by people or cats or dogs.

"Fearing no humans, they may become pests in the neighborhood, raiding garbage cans, panhandling, or biting children who try to play with them.

"They will be killed by natural predators they don't even recognize."

Among real problems facing these hand-reared animals is the fact that they were fed unnatural foods and do not recognize natural food when they see it. It is common for predatory mammals and birds to starve, since they do not know how to hunt.

In rare instances - when the mother is known to be dead, for instance - some people attempt to rear small animals. It is a type of nursemaid service for which we are ill-equipped.

For instance, most young mammals do not thrive on cow's milk nor canned milk. Cow's milk is too rich and gives most young mammals diarrhea. If they survive the bottle stage, they then must be weaned to either fresh greens or kibbled dog food or mixed bird seed - depending upon the type of food that adults of their species eat.

At early ages, most young mammals need some kind of warm cradle, heated by a light bulb, heating pad or similar device. Unless the "brooder" is organized properly, the young mammal either is in danger of being burned by too much heat - or succeeds in chewing through the power cord and electrocuting itself.

Some young mammals will not eliminate unless they are massaged on certain parts of the body. Their mothers take care of the situation. Without this attention, they will die of uremic poisoning or constipation.

Since the care of wild young mammals generates so many problems, the Massachusetts Audubon Society has published a brochure giving detailed instructions on the most successful methods. For a free copy, send a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Animals, Massachusetts Audubon Society, South Great Road, Lincoln, Massachusetts 01773.

Pike School Observes U.N. Week

The Pike school offered a variety of programs in observance of United Nations Week, October 20-26.

During half-hour assembly periods on Monday and Friday, the 350 boys and girls were introduced to the purpose and the work of the United Nations in its peace searching functions.

During the Monday assembly, a movie provided by UNICEF, "Children of Asia," was viewed by the upper school student body. The Friday assembly, including the entire student body, featured a contest, for the tenth year, by the students who volunteer to name and locate on a global map the member countries of the United Nations. The musical portion of the program, under the direction of Nicholas Tgettis, featured various members of the classes singing a wide variety of folk songs representative of the nations. The program closed with the singing of Finlandia.

Virtually all classrooms in the school supplemented the assembly programs with displays of posters and throughout the grade ranges the history classes have reinforced the children's understanding of the United Nations' objectives.

Partly as a consequence of their experiences leading up to the one week observance, the boys and girls of the school have undertaken to serve as a center in the Andover community for the sale of UNICEF Christmas cards. Ellen Gravalles is chairman of the project and all proceeds from the sales between now and Christmas will be given to the UNICEF organization. Many of the Pike school trick or treaters will continue the past tradition of donating their cash treats to the cause of UNICEF.

WILLIAM V. N. Washburn, 47 School St., director of development of the New England Baptist Hospital, Boston, will be one of the speakers at the 75th anniversary dinner program of the hospital Wednesday, Dec. 4 in the hospital dining room, Parker Hill Ave., Boston at 6 p.m.

SERVING VOTERS. Local Girl Scouts will be assisting the League of Women Voters this weekend in distributing voter information to homes in Andover. The voter information guides, provided by a major oil company, contain short biographical sketches of candidates and their responses to questions formulated by the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts. Shown here preparing delivery of the guides are: left to right, Diana Lindsay, Mrs. Brewster Seewald, leader of Girl Scout Troop 77; Mrs. Alfred Kleider, voter service chairman, LWV; Stacie Coffin and Kim Retelle.

A TV Eye Will Focus On Andover

Andover voters will have more interest than usual in the national elections Tuesday.

The reason? Precinct four in Andover has been selected as a "key precinct" for voting analysis by the ABC television network. Past voting history and significant information about voters were the criteria for the selection of this precinct.

The League of Women Voters will work with ABC News to gather and report voting results. In Andover, Mrs. Thomas Swift, 68 Summer St. is the official election reporter for the league. Mrs. Swift, a former voters service chairman, will receive the voting totals from precinct four for each of the Presidential candidates on the ballot and will relay her information to New York by telephone. The votes, for all of Andover as well as the key precinct, will be counted by a computer located at the Andover Institute of Business. Andover is one of only six centers where votes are tallied by computer.

Mrs. Swift is looking forward to her job as election reporter. "It's exciting to be where the action is on election night," she said.

AT CONFERENCE

Joseph B. Doherty, a vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, will participate in the 21st annual conference on education of the association in New York City Nov. 9. This will be a part of the annual convention being held in New York, Nov. 8-14.

North Street Reconstruction Bids Received

A Methuen firm is the low bidder on the Chapter 90 reconstruction of North St., according to figures forwarded to Town Manager Richard J. Bowen by the state Department of Public Works.

Methuen Construction Company submitted a proposal to the work for $189,000. Andover will pay one-quarter of this amount, plus some other costs under the Chapter 90 plan which provides for the state to pay one-half, and the county one-quarter.

Town Manager Richard J. Bowen told the selectmen that this was well within the town's budget for the project.

Bowen also said that he had been in contact with the contractor with regard to starting work. He said he indicated to the Methuen firm that if the contract were awarded to them, he was not interested in having work start at a time which would jeopardize the travelled way during the winter months.

Second lowest bidder was the Brox Company of Dracut, who submitted a proposal of $192,000. The TOWNSMAN advocated several weeks ago that work not be initiated on North St. during the winter months if a final paved way could not be provided before adverse winter and spring weather, despite the continued inconvenience of the residents and motorists who daily travel the particular roadway.

West Berlin - An Island In A Sea Of Communism

By George Speers
General Manager

New England Press Association

(Second of a Series)

West Berlin is an island city. It is a "beacon" of the Western World surrounded by a sea of Communism.

It is a thorn in the side (or rather in the middle) of Russian Communism in East Germany, some 100 miles removed from the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany). It is a constant threat and source of embarrassment to the leadership in East Germany. It is a major irritant to East Berlin.

Why? For one thing, West Berlin is a showplace of Western democracy. For another, West Berlin is truly a "land of plenty." Both of these are essentially lacking in East Germany. It is true that East Berlin is far better off in the way of consumer goods than a few years ago. But there is little real similarity to the overflowing shops of West Berlin, or any other West German city for that matter, to what one finds in East Germany.

In the matter of democracy, there is, of course, no similarity at all. Democracy, as we know it, is not practiced, and probably not understood, east of the Berlin Wall. Not only is political choice not available, but even such commonplace matters as trade, commerce, and everyday business practices are controlled by the state.

But in West Berlin one gets the feeling that the people are out to prove that the city will succeed despite its insular location and precarious position. Business and work proceed at a brisk pace; the streets are constantly filled with people, and certainly, people are willing to speak out - whether they or political leaders arguing in the Berlin Senate. All of these are daily routines.

But normal living in West Berlin has not been easy.

Probably the first real test of the post war Berliners' stamina came in June, 1948 when the famous "Berlin Airlift" was started to thwart the Soviet plans to blockade the city. Since that time the city has been plagued with numerous measures, all designed to frustrate normalcy in the isolated city.

A chronological accounting of the events arranged by the Soviet and East Berlin authorities for the West Berliners since 1948 reads almost like a classical exercise in disruption and frustration.

For example, here is how a partial list might read (and it certainly is nowhere near complete):

December 4, 1948 - Increasing intellectual terror at the Humboldt University in East Berlin leads to the establishment of the Free University in West Berlin.

December 5, 1948 - Soviet-occupying authorities in East Berlin refuse to recognize local election results for the various municipal and district offices, thus preventing these officials from having authority in the entire city.

EVERYWHERE PEOPLE AND ACTIVITY - West Berlin is an extremely busy city with people continually on the move, either on foot or by car, trolley, bus, or, of course, motor bike. Despite the fact that the city is completely surrounded by Soviet controlled East Germany and was almost totally destroyed 23 years ago, West Berlin is now the most industrial city in Central Europe. It is Germany's largest city today.

May 27, 1952 - Telephone wires between East and West Berlin are cut by East Berlin authorities.

January 15, 1952 - East Berlin cuts tramway traffic from West Berlin.

June 17, 1953 - Red Army crushes demonstration and uprising by East Berlin workers who object to increased work quotas.

December 19, 1957 - Soviet zone authorities enact stricter regulations to prevent the increasing flight from East to West Berlin.

August 13, 1961 - In the early hours of the morning, Communist authorities begin sealing off East Berlin, and the entire Soviet zone, from West Berlin with barbed wire. This is the beginning of the Berlin Wall.

These, and many more events, are in the back of the minds of many Berliners. They have learned in 20 years to live with them.

Despite these problems, and others that naturally grow out of the various blockade measures, there is optimism for the future. Sometimes, though, it is difficult to determine whether it is optimism or just plain grim determination to hold on.

With all of its problems, West Berlin is still the largest industrial city between Paris and Moscow. It is, of course, Germany's largest city, with some 2.4 million people. They live in 185 square miles. These same people are generally older in Berlin than in the rest of West Germany. About 25 per cent are in the 65 age bracket, which is about double the average for the country as a whole.

The supply of labor is another problem in West Berlin. Labor tends to migrate out of, not into, the city. Students tend to leave once they complete their education. The surrounding countryside can't produce labor that normally would flow into a large city to seek more income at shorter hours. This source of supply is very effectively cut off by the Communist authorities with their wall and miles of barbed wire and barricades.

Keeping Berlin viable and economically healthy is a very real concern for the Federal Republic authorities in Bonn. It is extremely important, politically and psychologically, they feel, to keep Berlin from collapsing. To this end the Bonn government offers many tax attractions to both workers and businesses to locate in the former capital. Currently the Federal government provides some 2.5 billion Deutsche Marks per year in subsidy aid.

Is there any possibility that the East German authorities will (with the Soviets calling the tune) relax the isolation of West Berlin for trade or for some other reason? Not likely. As a matter of fact, as time goes on, the prospect becomes increasingly dim.

A look at the West Berlin island shows that the city is surrounded by some 68.5 miles of barbed wire, barricades, and fences of one kind or another, not counting the "Wall". The "Wall" itself, which essentially splits the city down the middle, is 26.5 miles in length. And both now, today, are still being "perfected."

With all of these problems in the background in West Berlin, none is as important as the one dread fear that many Berliners have. The most frightening prospect of all is the possibility of being forgotten by the West.

This is the constant fear. Then all hope would be gone.

Central, Ballardvale Score Wins In Junior League

The Central Colts defeated the Shawshen Patriots 19-6 and the Ballardvale Browns edged the West Andover Packers 13-12 in Andover Junior League Football Sunday afternoon at the Playstead.

Scoring for the Colts were Paul Lindholm on a 15 yard punt return, Steve Royal and Tom McNamara on short plunges and Tom McNamara on a point after.

Tom Duffy passed to Bruce McIntyre for a 45 yard scoring play to put the Patriots on the scoreboard.

For the Colts, Bob Burrow, Jeff Mower, and Bruce Franz were offensive stars and Bill Haskell, Greg Lander, and Joe Bartley stood out on defense. Tim Meyers, Mark Raye, Doug Nangle, and Jeff Winters played well defensively for the Patriots.

Phil Markey's 13 yard scoring run, Mike Murnane's 26 yard scoring romp, and Glen Verrette's point after were enough to put the Browns on top.

Fred Iannazzi ran 29 yards for one Packer touchdown and John Christopher scored the other on a 4 yard plunge.

For the Browns, Larry Sideri, Mark Hamilton, David Gabie, Steve Johnson, James Moore, Brian Moore, Bob Poirier, and Bob Burnham were offensive stars, and Tom Luceri, Bob Zarembo, Keith Kenney, Glen Verrette, Mike Goumas, Bob Sheaff, and Fred Connors were defensive stars.

Joe Conlon, Phil Issenberg, Ken Lafleur, and Ken Laffredo played well offensively for the Packers and Tom Kenney, Dave Packard, and Gary Sirois stood out defensively.

Next Sunday the Browns play the Patriots and the Packers meet the Colts. Starting time is at 1 p.m.

Tewksbury Tops Andover

By Randy Thompkins

A strong running game and good defense gave Tewksbury a 26-0 win over Andover last Saturday at Tewksbury. The loss put Andover's record at 2-2-1, while Tewksbury remained undefeated, 4-0-1.

The games outstanding performers were Tewksbury halfbacks Jim DelGrosso and Mike Manley, who each scored two touchdowns. Del Grosso scored on his first possession of the ball, running 80 yards up the right sideline. Andover then countered with a drive to the Tewksbury 5 yard line, led by the running of backs Jim Gillan and Bill Moriarty. Andover lost the ball on the 8 and was unable to threaten seriously again. Later, Manley scored from the Andover 4 after a fumble recovery to make it 12-0.

An Andover drive, started by Bill Rushworth's interception, was ended at the Tewksbury 34; quarterback Don Pattullo was intercepted by Tom Buldoc who ran the ball back to the Andover 12. Manley then scored from the Andover 11 yard line.

Del Grosso ran 13 yards for the final touchdown, made the extra two points and ended the game, 26-0, Tewksbury.

Next Saturday Billerica comes to Andover at 1:30. Billerica lost last week to Dracut, 35-6.

CROSS COUNTRY

Andover finished the cross country league meets last week with a 19-44 victory at Methuen, to compile a 7-1-1 season record.

Clayton White of Andover finished first, covering the 2.5 mile distance in 12:08. Monte of Methuen was second in 12:23, but Andover, with superior team depth, swept the following six places.

Race results: C. White (Andover), Monte (Methuen), R. Parks (A), R. Jenkins (A), D. Earley (A), K. Sheehan (A), T. Conlon (A), J. Burton (A), Mc-

Last Saturday morning, at Franklin Park, Boston, Andover placed third in the Massachusetts Class C State Meet, behind Barnstable and Marblehead. Strong running by Clay White, placing 20th in the large field, Richard Parks 29th, Dan Earley 39th, Ken Sheehan 43rd, and Tom Conlon 62nd gave Andover the third place finish.

Coach John Curtin, in his first year coaching, did an outstanding job for the season. Lenny Sheehan, a former Andover and Northeastern track man aided Curtin in coaching the successful team.

FIELD HOCKEY

Andover's field hockey team finished the season last week with a 3-3-1 record overall.

The team had wins over Chelmsford, North Andover and Billerica, and tied Methuen, but dropped its last game to Billerica, 2-1.

High team scorers were Claudia Cronin, Debbie Russell, and Karen Moss. Leading the defense were captain Meri Hanson, Barbara Hamilton, and goalie Cheryl Birch.

Mrs. Crowell did a fine job coaching in her first year with the team.

Bradford Book To Be Discussed

Rev. J. Allyn Bradford, minister of Free Christian church, will give a sermon Sunday on the book recently published, "Not For Burning," written by his brother Amory Bradford, formerly an executive of the New York Times.

The book tells of Mr. Bradford's experiences in Oakland Calif., during the summer of 1967 when he worked with the poverty program as part of the Economic Development Administration.

During the riot-filled summer, Mr. Bradford worked to bring about peaceful solutions to problems which were the seeds of rioting in such areas as the Watts district.

A graduate of Phillips Academy, Mr. Bradford brought about peaceful solutions to the problems and relates them in his book.

Rev. Mr. Bradford will discuss the book during the 10:15 a.m. service Sunday.

Importance Of Nov. 5

Seldom, in recent history has a national election taken on the importance of the one which will be held Nov. 5.

No doubt each election is important and every person should exercise his franchise. This year, however, the decision which will be made is one crucial to the future course of American history.

We are engaged in a war, and we call it that justifiably despite the tag conflict, Vietnam crisis, or by whatever other name the political pundits choose to describe the bloody mess in southeast Asia.

Our taxes continue to soar. Our problems continue to increase both on a local, regional, state and national level.

Social welfare programs appear to be in a position to put us all in hock and almost put the American public on the verge of kicking it all in and retiring to welfare, medicare, or medicaid.

If this is important to the American voter, then he probably will take the time next Tuesday to cast his ballot. If not, then he can be classified as a disinterested American who could care less about his country's future.

There is some apparent disinterest in the election, caused by a feeling that the presidential candidates are not truly popular choices. This feeling inspires demand for change in the method of selecting presidential candidates. But that is not the problem now.

What we face as honest Americans, is choosing a candidate who will lead this country in the next four years. Whether the candidates are appealing or not, a President will be elected based on next Tuesday's decision.

With this in mind, the TOWNSMAN, extends its endorsement to the team of —

Nixon And Agnew

— as the choice to be this nation's leaders for the next four years.

Nixon appears to be the most polished statesman of the candidates offered this year. He has had experience as vice president and for a time was the leader of this country during those crucial weeks when President Eisenhower was recovering from heart attacks.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey would appear too much of a "me too" candidate, following in the lines of the present administration.

To change for the sake of change is not enough. To change to leadership which will apparently offer some constructive efforts toward positively ending the war in Vietnam, to lead to disarmament before nuclear weapons destroy the world, to tighten an already too loose social welfare program, is to move to the betterment of this nation.

This change appears possible with the Nixon-Agnew team.

Spiro T. Agnew is an untried national figure, but would appear to work well with Nixon and assume new leadership to the vice presidency — a spot so often and truthfully referred to as only a heartbeat away from the presidency.

We earnestly feel that Nixon and Agnew will give new leadership to this country and urge support of their candidacy.

While on the subject of the presidency, there is, this year, an inherent danger in the third party effort of —

George Wallace

— who for the first time since 1912, mounted a formidable third party candidacy.

We feel that support of Wallace poses a definite threat to the electoral system.

We honestly believe that a vote for Wallace is a wasted vote, yet one which can conceivably toss the national election into the Congress for an ultimate decision.

We do not subscribe to the purposes of the Wallace candidacy and urge voters to consider preferably Nixon and Agnew.

To go along with the Presidential team, this area needs Congressional representation which we believe can best be continued by the re-election of —

F. Bradford Morse

—who has served this area well generally and Andover in particular during his eight years representing the fifth Massachusetts district.

Showing how well Andover has fared during the four terms under Morse, since 1961, the town has received $367,630,755 in federal spending in the form of grants. This includes the $76,734,000 for the construction of the Internal Revenue Center, which has provided ample employment opportunities for people in our area.

In addition, Andover has received $400,767 in federal loans.

Morse has had a good attendance record in Congress. He has paid attention to the details of his office and to the needs of his area.

He has earned national respect for his work in Congress a position in which he was schooled well as assistant to the late Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell.

He has displayed courage and steadfastness on particular issues, regardless of party line and personal political significance.

We feel he is the superior choice and one which Andover can be proud to support.

While most attention has been given in these columns to national candidates, Andover must concentrate equally on the local scene, if it is to maintain representation in the state legislature.

For this reason, we give our wholehearted endorsement to —

Paul W. Cronin

—who has completed a freshman year in the state legislature, a goal he has sought since high school.

Cronin is the unusual politician. He set his goal on public service while attending high school. He educated himself in government and economics at the college level.

He served this town as a selectman, then as a representative.

His initial service in the legislature was commendable. With only a year in that august body behind him, Cronin was able to enter and have passed over 20 bills out of 30 entered. His so-called "Monday Group," a group of five young Republican legislators, was also successful in the enactment of several important bills.

He has plans for the future such as in the areas of transportation, regional governmental agencies to better serve local communities.

He is attentive to the needs of the area. He has served Andover and North Andover well in his brief term of office.

In a carved up Andover, which now will be represented by three different legislators in three different areas, we think it highly advisable to re-elect a proven, competent man who has been doing his homework for many years and gives all indications of continuing to face the issues with vigor and to act on them with vision.

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor:

As I write this letter, six large dogs are crossing our lawn, not bound by leash or fence, and I do not own a dog. However I do have children, who cannot play in their own yard for fear of the dogs. I remember well all the pros and cons concerning the dog leash law. Comparing them to children was one of the most ridiculous of all (after all we were all children once). Children's welfare must be the first consideration.

I have called the police about these dogs who visit the corners in droves when the children are waiting for buses, and was referred to the dog officer who assured me he would take care of the matter. That was over two weeks ago and the same dogs are still running at large all day.

On a recent Sunday afternoon I took my four children to the Recreation Park for some fun, but the fun we got was being chased from the park by a very large German shepherd with no leash on, and whose owner stood to one side and quietly tried to urge her dog away. There is indeed a dog leash law, and the owners of dogs, by breaking it or ignoring it, are teaching their children and others disobedience and disrespect for that and all laws, (something we already have too much of).

Perhaps it will take the $10,000 mentioned at town meeting to enforce this law completely, but a warning from the authorities might keep similar infractions from happening again. Surely the public parks could be kept free for the recreation intended, and the dogs left at home. Even when you go to a grocery or other store, you must step around or over some large dog.

All dog owners are not dog lovers, or they would care more for their pets, by abiding by the law, or disposing of the pet. Without enforcement, we can only hope they will abide by the law.

Off The Top Of The Desk

We note with sorrow the death last week of J.W. "Doc" Mooney, who was the schoolboy sports-writer for the old Boston Post.

"Doc" was a graduate of Phillips Academy and a familiar figure in schoolboy sports throughout the state. He was not only a writer, but an official in baseball, basketball and football for many years. Through both his officiating and his writings, he won a number of friends, both young and old.

Word has come to this desk of the perils of parenthood and baby sitters. Recently we understand, there was a young lady who had taken on the charges of parents while they attended a social evening. In the process of such operations, the babysitter was preparing the evening meal in the oven and at the same time attending to the baby's abdominal embellishments in another room. Meanwhile, the older of the two youngsters must have felt that the family cat was not being properly cared for as far as the heat in the house was concerned and promptly placed the feline in the oven. The ensuing scream brought the babysitter to the kitchen, thus releasing the cat, unscathed, but with only eight lives remaining, one child properly admonished and another slightly wetter, but soon to be properly dried and powdered.

Tennis is becoming an increasingly popular pastime in the Andover area. In addition to the new courts in almost constant use at the new high school, the courts at the Regional Vocational-Technical high school, are also getting constant patronage. In the latter case James Booth, school director, reports the courts are being used not only by the school, but by residents of the four participating communities as well.

The World War I French cannon is back in its permanent place in Memorial Park following completion of Rogers Brook construction. Having moved out to make way for the construction work, the cannon was restored through the cooperation of several volunteers. With spokes rotted, Elmer S. Ober veterans, agent, contacted Director James Booth of the Vocational school for assistance. Booth said if the cannon could be transported to the school, repairs and restoration would be made.

The Percy J. Dole rigging firm took the cannon to the school where the carpenter shop went to work on replacing the spokes on the wheels. A fresh coat of paint was applied and the field piece restored to its original location on a permanent bed of cement. Assisting in the overall process were the superintendent and crew of Federico Construction Co., contractors for the brook construction.

Shawsheen PTA Square Dance

Urban Crisis Subject Of Program

On Wednesday, Nov. 6 three residents of the Greater Boston and the Greater Lawrence areas will describe some attempts that are being made to meet the Urban Crisis in the cities nearest Andover.

Under the auspices of the Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunity, Dr. Nina Scarito, physician and civic leader, will discuss the need for day care services in Greater Lawrence. Harry Loebel, former president of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce and president of Raytheon's Service Company, will explain and illustrate Raytheon's work training program for Roxbury residents, and Mrs. Roger Kaufman of Lexington, librarian at the Martin Luther King Junior High school will enlist local support for a volunteer program which aims at providing and staffing libraries in some of the 180 Boston public schools where they are lacking.

At a time when urban ills are all too clear and cures for them too dimly seen, the AC/EO offers this fall program as an indication of some lines of action, either taken or contemplated, and as an opportunity for direct, specific involvement by Andover citizens.

Richard H. Moody, president of the AC/EO, will preside at the meeting which has been planned by Wilbur Hixon of the Andover High school department of social studies.

It will begin at 8 p.m. in the choral room of the high school. All members of the community are invited to attend and ask questions of the speakers.

Selectmen Ask Churches Remain Open

Liquor will be served in Andover during voting hours on election day and churches will be requested to remain open for meditation for the next President of the United States, according to votes of the board of selectmen Monday night.

Monday night.

The liquor establishments survived a controversy and will be able to maintain normal hours through a three-two vote of the board. As for the request to have the churches remain open, at the suggestion of Selectman Robert A. Watters, this was unanimous.

The board must establish the hours of liquor establishments on election day and both Selectmen William Stewart and Watters felt they should remain closed during polling hours.

Watters felt the places should remain closed on general principals. Stewart said he thought the place should be closed, "because it was an easy way to buy a vote."

Selectman Roger W. Collins said he saw no reason to have the business places closed and felt that proprietors could conduct business properly on the particular day. Selectman Sidney P. White agreed.

Chairman Philip K. Allen agreed and called for a vote. The board split evenly, two and two, and Chairman Allen cast his vote in favor of allowing the businesses to open as usual on election day.

Watters then followed with a motion to ask pastors and ministers of all local churches to keep their places of worship open on election day, "in order that voters may meditate for the next President of the United States."

This passed unanimously.

Impressive Gains Scored Through Use Of Computer

Principal Philip Wormwood and a trio of his administrators reported impressive gains after one year's experience of putting a computer to work on a scheduling, programming and grouping of students, grading, attendance reports and the collating of advance information for college admissions.

"Far faster and more accurate," was the verdict of assistant principals Charles Adams and Benjamin Dimlich, and guidance counselor Robert Perry, who agreed it was also far cheaper than trying to do the same things by hand.

"We couldn't get along without it and do the sort of things we are doing now," said Wormwood, citing various one-of-a-kind electives that would be impossible to schedule without NEEDS - (New England Electronic Data Systems, a Cambridge-based computer firm which leases its services to member schools).

Assistant Principal Charles Adams agreed that a lot of work goes into programming, giving generous credit to Guidance Counselor Perry, but that the school gets far more results from the work put in.

The high school now has 127 course offerings, with an average of 17.4 students per class. NEEDS schedules 1103 students, groups them according to ability levels, keeps an eye on class size, and fulfills students requests for particular electives, all within 99 per cent of perfection, Adams said this would be impossible to achieve with hand-scheduling.

Perry described other gains. "With the information retrievability possibilities, you can answer almost any question at any time." He said teachers and administrators have a more complete information picture of each student, yet are freed to spend more time with the students. One result is better advance information to college admission offices in clearer form, which he thinks may be partly responsible for a 9 per cent jump in AHS admissions to four-year colleges this year, from 45 per cent to 54 per cent.

Perry also cited research possibilities with the information available and Principal Wormwood said the school planned to purchase a keypunch machine and a verifier, in order to combine a new educational possibility for students with a means of reducing the $8 per student cost of NEEDS. The school committee seemed to view NEEDS as a real bargain, educationally and financially.

SORORITY PLEDGE

The A.P.C. Sorority of South church will initiate its new members on Thursday, Nov. 7, at 8 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. Miss Margaret Lane will be the speaker on "Experiences in Turkey."

Schools To Be Main Topic At Meeting

The selectmen will meet with the school committee on Nov. 26, armed with answers to the school department's questions with regard to school site needs and additional school housing.

The selectmen voted Monday night to meet with the school committee and discuss mutual problems, much of which revolve around new school housing.

Town Manager Richard J. Bowen, commenting on recent reports dealing with school population figures, asked the selectmen to prepare themselves to discuss these figures with the school committee.

Bowen commented that the recent study made by School Committeemen William A. Doherty and William F. King, predicting high school population figures in the 1970's was the third study in as many years, with the only difference being that his one was for nothing."

Bowen told the selectmen that based on the prognostication, "you should be prepared to answer the dire prediction."

Other items expected to be on the agenda for the joint meeting include the acquisition of property off Moraine St. for parking facilities, and actual school planning procedures.

SUPREME COURT

The continuing controversy over the U.S. Supreme Court in recent years has brought numerous requests to the Memorial Hall Library for books and magazine articles on the high court, according to librarian Mrs. Constance Smyth.

"Recent magazine articles are especially informative, but there is also a good selection of hard-cover books available," the librarian said.

Some of the recent titles about the U.S. Supreme Court and some of its controversial cases are "The Supreme Court: America's Judicial Heritage," by Patricia Acheson; "The Making of Justice: The Supreme Court in Action," by James Clayton; "The American Supreme Court," by Robert McCloskey; "The Petitioners," by Loren Miller; "Gideon's Trumpet," by Anthony Lewis; "The Bible and the Schools," by William O. Douglas, and "The Marble Palace," by John Frank.

Still another book - "The Supreme Court," edited by Leon Salomon - is an excellent collection of 33 articles on the role of the Supreme Court in American life.

The history of the U.S. Supreme Court is covered in Alan Westen's "An Autobiography of the Supreme Court," and Leo Pfeffer's "This Honorable Court: A History of the U.S. Supreme Court."

The problems of another president in getting confirmation of his choice for Supreme Court justices are described in "Justice on Trial," by A.L. Todd.

Retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren's life story is told in John Weaver's "Warren: The Man, the Court, the Era." Some of his major statements are published in "The Public Papers of Chief Justice Earl Warren" edited by Henry M. Christman.

Book Review

Timely Book By Munro Leaf

By Helen Eccles

"I Hate You - I Hate You" poses the human problem in paperback and in perspective. It's age-old, yet as current as yesterday's campus or ghetto riot, today's political campaign and next week's election. It could hardly be more timely, yet the basic subject is not likely to go out of fashion. Race versus race, nation versus nation, parent versus flower-child, - they are all here.

Munro Leaf's new book, issued on United Nations Day as the very first publication of the new Sterling Institute Press in Boston, is 50 pages of copy and color; even the print has been hand-lettered by the famous children's author, a long-time Andover resident. He has further reduced the stick figures that are his trademark to bare essentials. Enhanced with splendid color, his red, black, white, yellow and brown archetypes of the peoples of the world illustrate Munro Leaf's distilled conclusions on what's wrong with the world and how ridiculous it all is.

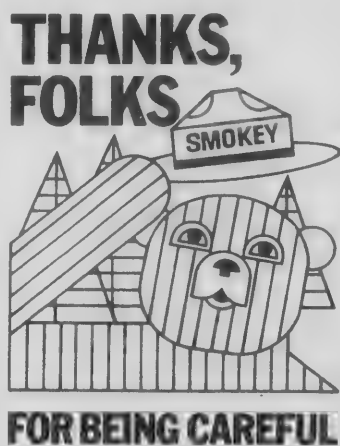

During the decade that the Munro Leafs lived on Salem St. in Andover, they traveled widely in Eastern Europe, Russia, the Middle East and Southeast Asia as part of the State Department's Cultural Exchange Program. As a consultant to Headstart and other poverty programs, Leaf has observed conditions in Navajo reservations and Chicago ghetto Headstart operations.

After observing the human condition at home and abroad, Leaf exposes human folly with wisdom and humor in "I Hate You - I Hate You," and serves it up as food for thought for young and old. He says about his new book:

"I knew what I wanted to say. I said it the way I wanted to. It's for everybody. Grandfathers and/or grandmothers should read it while their grandsons and/or granddaughters look at the pictures - or vice versa."

Leaf is the author of about 50 books, the most famous being "Ferdinand the Bull," published about 30 years ago and "Wee Gillis." Like "Ferdinand," I Hate

You - I Hate You," explores a basic emotion or attitude, but a far more prevalent one than Ferdinand's predilection for just sitting there peacefully and smelling the flowers.

Weather Extends Fall Harvest

The unusually mild October weather has extended the fall harvesting of native vegetables "at least two full weeks," said Nathaniel Tilden, director of marketing for the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture. Mr. Tilden went on to say that it was very unusual to find such heavy supplies of leafy green vegetables on produce stands that are "absolutely frost free so late in the season." Mr. Tilden also commented on baldwin apples, declaring that his traditional favorite would be back in favor this winter as the "very best cooking apple available to housewives."

McIntosh and baldwin apples, and leafy green vegetables like cabbage, lettuce, broccoli, escarole, chicory, celery, parsley and spinach are all plentiful and low-priced, heading this week's list of "best buys" from local farms. Other vegetables on the best buy list include beets, carrots, collard greens, dandelion greens, kale, leeks, radishes, scallions, Swiss chard, turnips, watercress and greenhouse tomatoes. Acorn, blue hubbard, buttercup and butternut squash are all plentiful and economical. Medium eggs are the best egg buy on the market this week. With baldwin apples generally available, this recipe for "Turnover Apple Pie" will be a family favorite:

Fill piepan with 5 cups thinly sliced apples. Roll out pastry; fit over top of apples, and trim edge. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees F., 25 minutes. Remove and turn upside down on warm plate. Lift up pan, scrape apples from crust and mix with apples left in pan. Mash with spoon. Mix in 1/2 cup sugar, 1/8 tsp. cinnamon, 1 tblsp. butter. Spread apple mixture on crust. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Dot with butter. Today's Agri-Fact:

Nathaniel Tilden, markets director for the State Department of Agriculture, whose namesake and forbear settled in Scituate in 1628, is authority for the statement that our warm October is not Indian Summer. The early settlers called warm days in late November Indian Summer because the absence of leaves and snow made it easy for hostile Indians to go on raiding expeditions.

Daddy of them all

What remains to be said about Benjamin Franklin?

Insurance companies, magazines, sociologists, scholars, scientists, diplomats and businessmen all regard him as one of their own.

But Ben Franklin was a printer and newspaperman first, last and always.

Like so many newspaper publishers today—particularly publishers of weekly newspapers—he was apprenticed as a printer in the trade at an early age. At 24 he became sole owner of The Pennsylvania Gazette, the largest and most successful newspaper in the Colonies. Later he branched out into book and magazine publishing, started a chain of newspapers, and pioneered many publishing innovations (such as hiring newspaper correspondents) which have become common in the industry.

Ben Franklin always thought of himself as a printer and newspaperman. He never "lost touch" with the Pennsylvania Gazette. On his tombstone he directed that the words "Benjamin Franklin, printer . . ." be engraved. One of his many aphorisms about journalism still finds prominent place on the walls of newspaper offices: "That if all printers were determined not to print any thing 'til they were sure it would offend nobody, there would be very little printed."

Ben Franklin proved that a newspaper run on sound business principles can both make money and perform a public service. He and his newspapers were basically different from earlier Colonial publishers and their newspapers. He made American journalism respected, a respect which found formal place in the First Amendment to our Constitution.

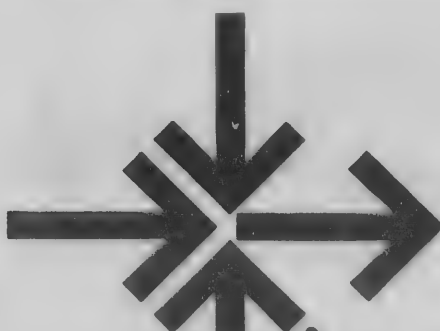

Franklin showed intelligent young men what they can do, in newspaper work. Ever since his time, newspapers have provided generations of young men with a rich and satisfying life.

These were Franklin's own words, for his epitaph:

"The body of Benjamin Franklin, printer (like the cover of an old book, its contents worn out, and stripped of its lettering and gilding) lies here, food for worms! But the work itself shall not be lost, for it will, as he believed, appear once more in a new and more beautiful edition corrected and amended by its author."

Newspaper work is fast-moving and demanding. Those who have the background, brains and interest to keep up with it, find it to be—as H. L. Mencken said—a "three-ring circus." And newspapers today still serve as essential stepping-stones for those who later branch out into other related lines of work.

What is a "Kelly Girl" employee?

A "Kelly Girl" employee is a person who loves different duties - different people - different company. She loves assurance of knowing she can work any time she needs too, but she doesn't have to if she doesn't want to.

This is the biggest benefit "Kelly Service" has to offer. Why don't you call for an appointment even if your office skills are rusty?

HIGH SCHOOL

sounding course called advanced lab, in which a selective group of advanced science students are pursuing independent study projects on time schedules of their own.

Three-year sequential courses in electronics, technical drawing, metals and woodworking have been added, as well as an industrial arts course for girls.

There's also a new math course that spreads Algebra I over two years, and another course in personal typing has been added.

Principal Philip F. Wormwood points out a half dozen new minor elective courses: creative writing, American foreign policy, developmental reading, slide rule, computers and programming and the presidential campaign and analysis of the elections of 1968, a semester course in social studies.

The high school is already offering courses on several levels in English and social studies in each grade, as well as tracking students in mathematics and languages, according to ability.

Homogeneous grouping of students for physical education, regardless of grade level is a new development at the high school, and has made it possible for Andover High school to comply with the new state law requiring thrice-a-week physical education instruction for every student.

What makes it possible to offer new courses, and levels within each course? There are 30 new teaching spaces, for one thing, says Wormwood, and five labs instead of three.

He points out that for three years before moving to the new school, the administration couldn't offer new programs because there simply weren't teaching spaces available. Classes were as large as 35 students, and teachers "lived out of their briefcases," with no place to work.

With the move to the new building, the library has room for 6,000 more books and many more students. As another example of the benefits of adequate space, Wormwood noted that as many as 20 girls in the office practice course can be found practicing on office machines in an extra period, on their own.

Guidance Counselor Robert Perry would also attribute some of the schools new flexibility to computer services for scheduling, grading, scoring tests, etc. "This way schedules can be fitted to students, instead of having to fit students into the schedule."

"Education can be a pleasant experience," concluded Wormwood. "Adequate facilities make for a better mood, encourage staff professionalism and better student performance."

"Crowdedness brings its own penalty," he added. "Larger classes, less flexibility and cutbacks in the programs."

To avoid this, the principal is already at work on educational projections for the high school addition which was planned before the building was erected, to match school population projections.

"Fashion is ruled by the head, says Vogue. You can never be smarter than your coiffure." Today's woman is very lucky. She can become anything she wants overnight blonde, redhead, brunette. She can change the style of her coiffure by adding a wig or wiglet. Falling hair, however, has become quite a problem with some women. It is a good idea, when you're having any trouble, to rub a mixture of warm olive oil and salt into the scalp the day before your shampoo - massage this in and leave it overnight. Your hair is your charm - keep it shiny. For many more hints on beauty come to CAPILO HAIR STYLISTS, 2 Riverina Rd., Shawshen-Andover. Corrective coloring, tinting, bleaching, frosting & tipping are part of our complete color service. Wigs, Wiglets & Falls Sold & Serviced. Open Daily 9-6. Fri. 9-8. Tel. 475-1639.
